On 16th May, the Annual Awards Evening for the QUT Discipline of Medical Radiation Sciences was conducted at the Gibson Room at the QUT Gardens Point Campus.

About 50 attendees were welcomed by Prof Adrian Herington, Acting Dean of the Faculty of Science and Technology and Assoc Prof Pamela Rowntree, the Master of Ceremonies for the evening.

Certificates of achievement were presented to those students achieving outstanding academic performance throughout their chosen medical radiation science programmes during 2010.

Along with the many corporate sponsors who support our profession, the Queensland Branch of the AIR, co-sponsors many of the prizes awarded to undergraduate students.

In medical imaging technology, certificates of achievement were awarded to Angela Chalmers, Amber Suarna, Troy Anderson and Emma Dore.

Radiation therapy certificates of achievement were awarded to Emma Thomas, Tessa Peterson, Jessica Burley, Marcella Bowden, Juliet Meehan and Tahira Peer.

Postgraduate awards for achievements in ultrasound were awarded to Marta Fonseca, Casey Filce, Katrina Bennett, Danielle Wade, Mark Williamson, Brad Musumeci and Maxina Chang.

Dean's Awards for Academic Excellence presented by Prof Adrian Herington, Acting Executive Dean of the Faculty of Science and Technology, were awarded to Troy Anderson (medical imaging technology), Danielle Wade (breast ultrasound), Casey Filce (medical ultrasound) and Katrina Bennett (cardiac ultrasound).

In making the presentations, representatives of the corporate sponsors congratulated the recipients and acknowledged their outstanding academic achievements.

In closing, student representative Marcella Bowden gave a vote of thanks on behalf the prize recipients: thanking the Faculty and academic staff, and acknowledging the sponsors for their contribution and continued support.

Parents and friends, graduands and students, joined the academic staff and sponsors for canapés and refreshments to conclude the evening at the QUT riverside venue.

The Qld Branch of the AIR wishes to acknowledge the continued support to medical radiations students and graduands provided by the following sponsors: Agfa, ASA, Elekta, Fujifilm Medical Systems, GE Healthcare Technologies, Lippincott Williams and Wilkins, McGraw-Hill, MRTBQ, Nucletron, Philips Healthcare, RANZCR and Varian Medical Systems.
